You pick up the phone. We pick up, wrap up and ship your luggage there and back.

- Luggage Free picks up your bags at your home or office, ships them to your destination, and at the end of the stay sends them back.
- Company representatives arrive, wrap the bags in protective plastic, tag them and transport them directly to your destination. You do nothing but pick up the phone and pack.
- Luggage Free delivers door-to-door anywhere in the United States as well as to over 110 countries worldwide.
- Shipments are insured for up to $1,000 as part of the service, with unlimited additional coverage available.
- As each shipment is delivered, you are notified via the method of your choice, outlining time of delivery and name of recipient, allowing you the ability to travel with the piece of mind of knowing that your luggage is waiting for you.
